Translate the following into Hindi or Marathi.

In one of her speeches Mrs. Indira Gandhi said, "A country's progress can be measured by the progress of women folk". Indeed, the progress of women is not possible unless they are given proper education. History bears ample proof that the women's education was given due importance in ancient India, during the Vedic period, women enjoyed the same rights and privileges as did men. In some respect they were given some special honour also. Gargi and Maitreyi were regarded as the leading philosophers of the time.
